Impact A Guide to Business Communication Canadian 8th Edition Northey Test Bank

Full Download: https://alibabadownload.com/product/impact-a-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-te-

Northey: Impact: A Guide to Business Communication, Eighth Edition Chapter 01: Thinking about Communication

1) Name the three advantages writing gives in business situations:
Answer: flexibility, power, clarity
2) Give three examples of internal communication systems:
Answer: email, bulletin boards, meetings
3) Which business size (small, medium, large) usually has fewer layers of communication,
Answer: small businesses
4) Identify the three directions which the flow of information takes in an organization with good communications:
Answer: downward, upward, lateral
5) Briefly describe a two-way communication process:
Answer: The sender encodes a message and transmits it via a channel and a medium. The receiver receives and decodes the message and provides feedback.
6) Give two examples of gestures which have different meanings in different cultures:
Answer: Nodding the head indicates agreement in Western cultures but suggests disagreement in Nodding the head indicates agreement in Western cultures but suggests disagreement in some African cultures and means "I understand" among Asians. Eye contact is a sign of respect in Western cultures but may suggest disrespect in North American Indian or West Indian cultures.

Northey: Impact: A Guide to Business Communication, Eighth Edition Chapter 01: Thinking about Communication

7) Name three things to avoid when writing in a multicultural context:
Answer: temptation to sound sophisticated; slang/colloquialisms; complex sentence structure; use of acronyms, contractions, abbreviations
8) Name three things to especially remember when speaking in a multicultural context:
Answer: watch for signs of confusion; be an active listener; be a sensitive listener; observe gestures and facial expressions to understand listener's response
9) What is one of the reasons that Canada has become a global leader in communications technology?
Answer: We have always had to communicate across vast distances and distinct cultures.
10) Poor sentence structure or word choice creates what kind of interference in the communication process?
Answer: semantic
11) List three factors that can produce environmental interference in the communication process:
Answer: age, sex, physical appearance, cultural attitudes
12) Name two types of nonverbal communication:
Answer: setting, gesture

Northey: Impact: A Guide to Business Communication, Eighth Edition Chapter 01: Thinking about Communication

13) What is kinesics?
Answer: science of gestures
14) What is the most underrated of all the communication skills?
Answer: listening
15) List three mirroring techniques:
Answer: paraphrasing, clarifying, reflecting feelings, summarizing
16) According to the Mehrabian study, what percentage of communication is nonverbal
Answer: 93%
17) Name three kinds of questions:
Answer: open, closed, hypothetical, loaded, two-part
18) List three strategies for becoming a good listener.
Answer: stop talking; pick a spot where neither of you will be distracted; show by your posture and expression that you are attentive; be open rather than judgmental; and be alert to nonverbal cues.
19) Give three guidelines for communicating effectively via email:
Answer:

Impact A Guide to Business Communication Canadian 8th Edition Northey Test Bank

Full Download: https://alibabadownload.com/product/impact-a-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-8th-edition-northey-tea-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-stan-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-stan-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-stan-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-stan-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-stan-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-stan-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-stan-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-stan-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-guide-to-business-communication-canadian-guide-to-business-canadian-guide-to-business-canadian-guide-to-business-canadian-guide-to-business-canadian-guide-to-business-canadian-guide-to-business-canadian-guide-to-business-canadian-guide-to-business-canadian-guide-gui

Northey: Impact: A Guide to Business Communication, Eighth Edition Chapter 01: Thinking about Communication

remember the human; be succinct; avoid emoticons; pay attention to appearance and format

20) Identify two problems with spell checkers:

Answer:

cannot identify commonly confused words; cannot always identify grammar errors