Short Answer Questions

111. Why is the concept of "Adjusted Gross Income (AGI)" important?

The concept of "Adjusted Gross Income (AGI)" is important because many deductions and credits reported on the tax return are computed based on the amount shown as AGI. Furthermore, when a taxpayer's AGI exceeds certain levels, certain tax benefits are reduced or eliminated.

118. List and describe the five tests that a person must meet to qualify as a qualifying child.

To be a qualifying child, the person must meet five tests:

1. Relationship test.
2. Age test.
3. Residency test.
4. Support test.
5. Special test for qualifying child of more than one taxpayer.

The relationship test is met if the dependent is one of the following: child or descendant of child; stepchild; eligible foster child; or brother, sister, half-brother, half-sister, stepbrother, or stepsister, or a descendant of them.

The age test is met if, at the end of the year, the child is under the age of 19, under the age of 24 and a full-time student, or totally and permanently disabled regardless of age. After 2008, the child must be younger than the person claiming the dependency.

The residency test is met if the child lived with the taxpayer for more than half of the year.

The support test is met if the child did not provide more than half of his or her support.

The special test for qualifying child of more than one taxpayer applies if the child meets the other four tests and can be the qualifying child for more than one taxpayer. In this case, only one individual can claim the exemption.

To be a qualifying relative, the person must meet four tests:

1. Not a qualifying child test.
2. Relationship or member of household test.
3. Gross income test.
4. Support test.

The not a qualifying child test refers to a child who is the taxpayer's qualifying child or the qualifying child of another person, who cannot be claimed as a qualifying relative by the taxpayer.

The relationship or member of household test is met if the person is related to the taxpayer (child or descendant; stepchild; eligible foster child; brother, sister, half-brother, half-sister, stepbrother, stepsister or descendant; father, mother; brother or sister of parents, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, father-in-law, mother-in-law, brother-in-law, or sister-in-law) or a member of the taxpayer's household for the entire year.

The gross income test is met if this person does not have income equal to or greater than the amount of the exemption ($3,950 for 2014).

The support test is met if the taxpayer provides over 50 percent of this person's support.

123. Using the appropriate tax tables or tax rate schedules, determine the amount of tax liability in each of the following instances. All answers should be rounded to the nearest dollar.

1. A single person with taxable income of $103,500.
2. A married couple filing jointly with taxable income of $37,700.
3. A head of household with taxable income of $87,925.
4. A person filing married filing separately with taxable income of $64,000.
5. A married couple filing jointly with taxable income of $144,600.

1. $22,156. $($103,500 - 89,350) \times 28\%$ plus $18,193.75.
2. $4,751. Look up $37,700 under the tax tables for married filing jointly.
3. $16,394. Look up $87,925 under the tax tables for head of household.
4. $11,863. Look up $64,000 under the tax tables for married filing separately.
5. $27,863. $($144,600 - $73,800) \times 25\%$ plus $10,162.50.

124.

Can the taxpayer avoid the failure to pay on time penalty by just filing an automatic extension to file his or her tax return?

A taxpayer can file an automatic six-month extension of time to file his or her tax return, but this extension will not extend the time to pay the applicable tax. If the taxpayer filing an extension determines that he or she owes additional tax, the payment must accompany the extension request (Form 4868).
